Love some - bo - dy, yes I do, Love some - bo - dy, yes I do,

Love some - bo - dy, yes I do, Love some - bo - dy and it may be you.

[Additional verses from Jean Ritchie at Home, Pacific Cascade Records LPL 7026]

2. Twice sixteen's thirty-two, (3x)
Sally, won't you have me? Do, gal, do!
3. Dance all night and fiddle all day, (3x)
That's the soldier's joy, they say.
4. Sun comes up and the moon goes down, (3x)
See my little Sally in her morning gown.
5. If somebody comes and finds me gone, (3x)
They better leave my girl alone.

Game Directions

Suggested game: One child is chosen to be "it." He thinks of the name of someone in the class, but does not tell the others. At the end of the song, three other children take a turns trying to guess the secret. If no one guesses, the original child remains "it." If the secret is guessed, the child who guessed becomes "it."
